Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) do not apply to the examination of this application as the application being examined was not (1) filed on or after November 29, 2000, or (2) voluntarily published under 35 U.S.C. 122(b). Therefore, this application is examined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

2. Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Guenther (6318941).

Per claims 1 and 3, Guenther (figures 1-2) shows an anchor having a center shaft (86) having an attachment end (the end with the head) and a piercing end (34), a first member and second member (52,54) pivotally coupled to the center shaft, the piercing end is removable from the center shaft.

Per claims 1, 2, 4-11-20, Guenther shows a center shaft(32) having an attachment end (128), a piercing end (34), a first and second members (50,52) pivotally coupled to the center shaft, the piercing end terminating in a point (point 34), the first and second members being rotatable between a first position proximate the shaft and a second position orthogonal to the shaft, the attachment end having a ring (126), the attachment end being removable from the center shaft, a collar (120) slidably disposed on the shaft (slidable before fixing in place), threaded means (112) for fixing the collar in an axial position along the shaft, the first and second members each having an end that meets to form a point that extends beyond the piercing end of the shaft when the first member and the second member are in the first position, a spring (88) for biasing the members away from the shaft.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The prior art shows different anchoring means.
